LONDON, September 19.

Extract of a Letter from an Officer in the late Expedition to the Coast of France.

Dear Sir,

THE Day after my last we set sail from St. Helens [illegible], and continued beating about the Channel till the 3d of September, when we joined the Fleet, who were making directly for the French Coast, which we were then in Sight of, and we all anchored the same Evening in St. Lunaire Bay, on the Coast of Britany, about five Miles Westward of St. Maloes.

4th. Most Part of the Day was employed in Landing the Troops, which was done with the Loss of only 3 Men that were drowned. There [illegible] Frenchmen appear on the Shore, nor did [illegible] with the least Obstruction, but marched directly to an Eminence, about half a Mile from the Water-Side, and encamped. At Night I was put on the Picquet Guard, which are a Body of [illegible] Men, with Officers, posted about half a Mile from the Camp, to prevent a sudden Surprise, [illegible] we [illegible] under Arms all Night. We shot [illegible] of the Enemy, and took others Prisoners, who were endeavouring to discover our Situation and Numbers. It was not known to every Body that St. Maloes was the Place intended to be attacked.

5th. The Commodore [illegible] with the [illegible]. They accompanied the General to a Village three Miles from St. Maloes, to reconnoitre the Place; they were greatly annoyed by the Enemy's Cannon, [illegible] Yard and Half of the Fringe. In the Evening Sir William [illegible] with a [illegible] of 300 Grenadiers to burn all the [illegible] St. Maloes, which [illegible] with great [illegible].

[illegible]

French Regulars, but they stood but one Fire, 200 of them were killed and wounded; all the Rest fled: At Two we passed thro' a City called Matillion, without the least Molestation, and encamped about half a Mile distant from it; we lost this Day 30 Men, 11 were taken Prisoners; one of whom made his Escape, and brought an Account that his Comrades were put to Death in a barbarous Manner. At Ten at Night our Picquet Guards took a French Dragoon Prisoner, from whom a Confession of the Strength of the Enemy was extorted, on Pain of being immediately put to Death. He informed that twelve Regiments of Foot, and five Regiments of Horse, with 10 Pieces of Cannon and 2 Mortars, were encamped within 3 Miles of us, and that they were determined to give us Battle the next Morning.—— Our General did not think it prudent to wait for the Enemy, as their Strength was greatly superior to ours, and gave Orders for us to be under Arms all Night, and as soon as we could see, to make the best of our Way to the Water Side, where the Shipping would be ready to receive us.——However, the French were before us, for at One we could hear their Drums beat to Arms, at which Time there came some Deserters to us, who informed us that the Design of the Enemy was to get between us and the Water Side, and by that Means cut off our Retreat, which they certainly would have done, had not the bringing of their Cannon up the very bad Roads, taken up most of the Morning. At Day-light we set off, and made a brisk March towards the Water Side. At this Time the French were at our Heels, and by the Time we were getting to the Boats their whole Army appeared, and a terrible Cannonading ensued, while their Infantry were marching with all possible Speed, to bring their Fire to reach us. In the mean Time we doubled our Diligence in getting to the Boats, in which several were killed and wounded. The Guards and Grenadiers were ordered to line the Beach to cover our Retreat, and prevent the Slaughter we must have hazarded, and, from a naked Retreat, without any Covering, must have expected. By the Time we were in the Boats, the whole French Infantry, and what Men the Boats could not carry, (besides the Guards and Grenadiers) were engaged. A terrible Fire continued on both Sides for Two Hours and a Half, when at Length the English Guards gave Way, the Grenadiers soon followed, and as there was no Retreat in an Enemy's Country, they most of them plunged themselves into the Water, and endeavoured to swim to the Ships. Several were killed in the Water; and those that could not swim, were drowned. At One the Firing ceased, and the French proclaimed a Victory in the Field, and immediately sung Te Deum.

Our Loss in this Action is 700 Men, and 45 Officers, killed and wounded; 15 of the Officers were killed on the Spot, among whom are General Drury, Colonels Griffin and Wilkinson, and Sir John Armitage, who was a Volunteer. Several of those who were wounded have had their Limbs cut off, and are thought to be in a bad Way.—— General Drury was killed in the Water, endeavouring to make his Escape. Sir William Boothby, who had the second Command in the Grenadiers, swam near 2 Miles to the Ships, in all his Cloaths; as did a Captain of our Regiment. In the Beginning of this Action the French refused to give Quarter, which put the Conquered to the terrible Necessity of taking to the Water.——However, when they found the Day to be theirs, they spared several Persons, and have now in their Custody several Persons of Distinction; namely, Lord Frederick Cavendish, &c.

The 10th and 11th at Anchor; had a Flag of Truce ashore, and had Leave to bury our Dead. The 12th, set sail, and were obliged to put in here [illegible] on Account of the contrary Winds.

The French Troops were as follows:

WHITEHALL, September 18.

LATE on Saturday Night last an Express arrived with the following Letters from the Right Honourable Lord HOWE, and Lieutenant-General BLIGH, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary PITT, dated on board the Essex, off St. Cas Bay, on the Coast of Britany, in France:

Essex, off St. Cas Bay, Sept. 12, 1758.

SIR,

IN my Letter of the 7th, I had the Honour of informing you of the Movement of the Fleet from St. Lunaire to this Bay.

The Reimbarkation having commenced, at the Lieutenant-General's Request, upon his Arrival with the Troops on this Shore Yesterday in the Morning, the former Corps were taken off without any considerable Interruption from the Enemy; but, in their Attack upon our Rear-Guard, the Captains Rowley, Maplesden, Paston, and Elphinstone, (commanding under Capt. Duff the different Divisions of the flat Boats) waiting to embark with the Grenadiers, were made Prisoners. My own Observation of the very resolute Behaviour of those Captains, and of Capt. Duff, being confirmed by the Report of the Land-Officers concerned in that Service, I cannot omit this Notice of it. The other Particulars of our Loss, respecting the Officers and Men belonging to the Ships of War, is added in the List annexed.

Judging the Anchorage in this Part of the Coast to be no wise proper for the Fleet to remain at this Season of the Year, till the further Supplies provided could be taken on board, if sent for, and the Troops put again into a proper State of Service, I am therefore preparing, with the Lieutenant-General's Consent, to return for that Purpose to any such Port as I may be first able most conveniently to gain in England. I am, &c.

HOWE.

SIR, [illegible] The Essex, Sept. 13, 1758.

I MENTIONED in my last Letter to you, that it was necessary on Account of the Safety of the Fleet, to go to St. Cas, being obliged to quit the Bay of St. Lunaire, where we disembarked, for fear of being drove on Shore against the Rocks, the Wind blowing hard upon the Shore. Accordingly we marched the 9th to St. Gildas, the 10th to Matillion, to meet our Fleet, which lay out beyond St. Cas Bay, to get Provisions. That Evening I received Intelligence, that there were twelve Battalions of Foot, and two Squadrons of Horse, at Lambale, on their March towards [illegible], which came from Brest. Having consulted the General Officers upon this Occasion, they thought it the best way to retire to St. Cas; upon which I sent off immediately an Officer to acquaint the Commodore with it, that he might give Orders for his Fleet to put into what Bay he thought best to reimbark at; and marched the 11th, at 4 o'Clock in the Morning, to St. Cas Bay, where the Fleet put in, and had their flat bottom Boats ashore ready to receive us. The Troops marched into the Boats as fast as they arrived. In about an Hour after we began to embark, we saw the Enemy begin to appear on the Heights above, and soon after they began to fire on us with their Cannon, but did not attempt marching down, till almost all the Troops were reimbarked except the Grenadiers, which made the Rear Guard of the Whole, who marched up to oppose their advancing, and behaved with great Bravery and Resolution, till overpowered by Numbers, they were at last obliged to give way, and retire to the Water Side, till the Boats could come in to take them, where they suffered much by the Enemy's Fire. We have lost some Officers and Men, which must always be the Consequence when there is an Enemy to oppose our Landing or Reimbarking. We have lost between six and seven Hundred Men, killed, drowned, and taken Prisoners. The List of the Officers I send you inclosed. I am afraid General Drury is killed, as he is not down in the List sent me by the Duke d'Aiguillion. Lord Frederick Cavendish is among the Prisoners, and well. The Officers missing or killed are about 10, whose Commissions I shall fill up in Consequence of your Letter. I shall do Justice to every Regiment in the filling up the Commissions, and shall not prefer my Nephew, Lieutenant St. George, to hurt any Regiment. Lieut. Col. Wilkinson, of Lord Robert Manners's Regiment, is killed. I shall only mention the Majors Names according to their Seniority, who are all very deserving Men; Major Preston, of General Cornwallis's Regiment; Major Daulhat, of Lord Charles Hay's Regiment, who was Major to the Grenadiers on this Command, and behaved well; Major Remington, of Lord Robert Manners's Regiment. The present State of the Troops make it necessary to return to England. I am, &c.

THOMAS BLIGH.

P. S. I received just now a Letter from the Duke d'Aiguillion, that there are about 3 or 400 Prisoners.

LONDON.

Sept. 18. Several Letters by the last Dutch Mail not only bring a Confirmation of the warlike Preparations making by the Turks against the Russians, but also add, that they are assembling an Army to invade Hungary or Transilvania.

On Monday arrived at Bristol the Lockhart Privateer, Capt. Brett, and brought in with her the Britannia, Butler, of Liverpool, bound to New-York, which she retook going into Brest; she had been taken [illegible] Days before by the [illegible] Privateer, and [illegible] and [illegible] last Monday [illegible] came through the Irish Channel, and took the Vessel off Belfast, she was proceeding to France with her Prizes, [illegible] Virginia to Liverpool.

Sept. 23. A Draught is ordered to be made out of the three Regiments of Foot Guards, to fill up the Places of those killed at St. Cas.

And the [illegible] are ordered [illegible] to repair to Portsmouth on another Expedition of great Importance, which is going forward.

We are assured from good Authority, that in the late Battle between the Prussians and Russians there were not less than 24000 killed and wounded on both Sides, and that General Brown, who was reported to be kill'd, is only wounded, and likely to do well.

Sept. 22. On Wednesday Night his Royal Highness Prince Edward arrived at Kew from Portsmouth, and Yesterday waited on his Majesty at Kensington in his Uniform.

Letters from Plymouth say, that [illegible] of Ships from Jamaica are arrived in that Port.

Admiralty Office, Sept. 19. Yesterday the Right Hon. Lord Anson, with Part of his Majesty's Fleet under his Command, arrived at Spithead; as did likewise Commodore Lord Howe, and Lieutenant General Bligh.

Extract of a Letter from Captain [illegible], of the Shrewsbury, at Sea, to Lord Anson, dated September 14, 1758.

On the 12th Instant, in the Afternoon, standing in Shore, the Lizard being a-head, and the rest of the Ships following, got Sight of a great Number of small Coasting Vessels under Convoy of the Thetis and Calipso Frigates, and an armed Snow, working between the Passes of Fontenoy and Toulinguet towards Brest, with the Wind Northerly; the greatest Part of them got into the Pass of Toulinguet, where nothing could get at them. Capt Hartwell, of the Lizard, [illegible] to cut some of them off, and accordingly got between the Toulinguet and the Frigates, and Part of the Convoy, on which they bore away for the South Shore. Capt. Hartwell came up with, and engaged both the Thetis and Calipso, alone very bravely, for above two Hours; then the Thetis sheered off, and run in for the Rocks at the Mouth of the River Foul Drives. A little before dark the Calipso, and about 20 of the small Craft, run on Shore upon the Rocks, at or near a Place called Point de Louen, where Capt. Hartwell concludes she would break up, it being the Lee Shore, she laying upon a large Heel, and with the Swell of the Sea striking very hard upon the Rocks, with her Yards and Sails, &c. shot all to Pieces. The Lizard had one Man killed, and eight wounded, and received some Damage in her Hull, Masts, Yards &c. At Ten at Night I anchored between the Rocks called Leboue and Basse Vieille, and lay there till the Sterling Castle, Unicorn, and Lizard, who were within us, came out.

Sept. 18. His Majesty has been pleased to issue his Royal Proclamation for both Houses of Parliament to meet the 14th of November next for the Dispatch of Business.

An Express is arrived with an Account that the King of Prussia has joined Prince Henry, with his Army, and that Marshal Daun has retreated. 'Tis said his Prussian Majesty marched his Troops as far in five or six Days, as they are usually twelve or fourteen Days in performing.

Translation of a Letter from the King of Prussia to his Ministers, at Foreign Courts, dated at Lobau, September 5.

"I have at length reaped the Fruits of my last Victory over the Russians. Superior as they were in Number, even after the Defeat, they took an advantageous Camp three Leagues from the Field of Battle, where they halted till the 31st of August, to collect the Runaways, and secure their Retreat. On that Day they at last took a Resolution to Retreat towards Poland by Landsberg, after setting Fire to the greatest Part of their Baggage. I have sent General Manteuffel in Pursuit of them; and General Malchowsky hath already had an Opportunity to fall upon their Rear, and hath taken three Pieces of Cannon. You will see the Particulars, together with a List of the Russian Generals and Officers, who were made Prisoners in the Battle of the 25th, in the inclosed Paper.

"Whilst I was employed against the Russians, Marshal Daun, as well as the Prince of Deux Ponts, advanced with all their Forces to the Elbe, [illegible] Prince Henry; [illegible] to [illegible] Count Dohna's [illegible] and on the [illegible] have reached Lobau this Day, the 5th, [illegible] Henry, and [illegible] the vast Projects of the Austrians."

Letters from Germany [illegible] his Prussian Majesty was arrived at Prince Henry's Camp in six Days, from Count Dohna's Army, with a great Number of Troops; and that Count Daun was retreating in great Haste.

Sept. 27. Such great Diligence is used in fitting out Transports now getting ready for his Majesty's Service in the River, that the Workmen are obliged to Work double Tides every Day, Sundays not excepted.

We hear that a noble Lord, Major General in his Majesty's Service, lately come from [illegible], has demanded a General Court-Martial.

Extract of a Letter from Portsmouth, Sept. [illegible]

"The Boat-builders are immediately to begin some flat bottom'd Boats, which according to their Orders must be completed in [illegible] Days.

"There is another Squadron also fitting out, to be under the Command of Lord Howe; the particular Ships are not yet named, but according to all Appearance, the Destination of it will be out of Europe.

"The Troops are still in the Isle of Wight, and, it is said, the greatest Part of them will be embarked on board the Transports which are Victualling for these two Expeditions."

Sept. 28. According to some private Letters by this Dutch Mail, a Declaration of War [illegible] Grand Seignior's Part, against Russia, and it was expected it would be forthwith published.

All the private Letters from Bohemia and Saxony agree, that Marshal Daun and the Prince of Deux Ponts were retreating before the King of Prussia's and Prince Henry's Armies, and that in more Haste, than is mentioned in the Dutch Gazettes.

There is Advice over Land from the East-Indies, that Commodore Stephens had join'd Admiral Pocock, and that the French had lost so many of the Forces sent thither under General Lally, that they were in no Condition to hurt the English.

On the 14th Instant, the Prussian, Austrian, and Imperial Armies were all, in a Manner, at the very Gates of Dresden, so that the News is every Moment expected of a Battle, so far decisive, as that it must absolutely determine the future Fate of Saxony.

Sept. 30. A large Train of Artillery is putting ready to be embarked in the intended Expedition under Lord [illegible] Howe.

It is said [illegible] between us and Holland are [illegible] our Court having wrote over to the States General to engage them to suppress the illegal Commerce their Subjects carried on with France, to which their High Mightinesses have agreed, and are settling proper Regulations for that Purpose.

There is also a Report that the Swedish Army is going to be disbanded, on Account of the Unwillingness those Troops discover to fight against the King of Prussia, and the Divisions and Misunderstandings that prevail among their chief Officers; and that the Czarina has recalled her Troops on Account of the warlike Preparations of the Turks.

Sir Edward Hawke is [illegible] to sail with a Squadron of Men of War.

Portsmouth, Sept. [illegible] On Sunday Afternoon arrived at St. Helens from Louisbourg, his Majesty's Ships Dublin, Northumberland, and Terrible; these bring [illegible] the Governor of Louisbourg and his Lady, with all the French Officers; the Bulk of the [illegible]
